Common Schools.

A gentleman extensively acquainted with our Common Schools has handed us a report of Mr. I. P. H. THOMAS, Superintendent of the Common Schools of the town of Stephenton, Renssalaer Co. It touches several points of the deepest importance to all the friends of Education. He complains deeply of the inattention of parents in visiting the schools. He says-" In all pecuniary matters our citizens are, as they should be, alive to their interests. If a farmer or mechanic should employ a man at wages in the most trivial occupation, the amount of compensation would insure the most watchful supervision. But the teacher seems to be of a different and privileged order of beings." This truth has struck us forcibly as one of the chief defects in the districts throughout the It results from the utter unconsciousness, on the part of the parent, of the results depending on the early training of his child. If a community should engage a man to take care of the jedies and limbs of its children, it would be amaing careful how a limb began to droop or lose its proportion, or an eye waste away under the wrong management of the man to whom they had been entrusted. With the first appearance of such a disaster the town would be in a buzz-vet these same parents commit the mental and moral structure of their children-more easily moulded, and moulded wrong than the physical-to a booby or a vicious man, without ever questioning his work or caring to see the progress he makes in destruction. We have seen a child with a spirit as much superior to the master who controled it, as is the eagle to the vulture, and when we have seen the rude and ignorant training to which it was subjected, we have thought if it were our case we had rather the child would learn nothing, than learn so much it would have to unlearn or bs spoiled. You may add improvements ad infinitum to our common school system, but until the parents can be made to watch over every step of the child's education with the deep solicitude that springs from a true knowledge of its import ance, our system of instruction will be vitally defeetive. Why, this apathy seems to us the strangest of all apathics. We have cattle shows and fairs innumerable, and multitudes throng them, and they become a month's wonder. The farmer who has the best stock is known and his method of raising it. He will tell you he never leaves it to a hired man, unwatched and uncared for But you cannot by any possible amount of argument awaken the same interest in the training of youth. Let a cattle show be advertised, and you wonder where all the multitude come from. Yet advertise a common school convention, and you wonder where all the people can be. Now, this simple fact reveals one of the most startling truths, and conveys the severest rebuke to the parents of our country. We feel inclined to ask if a child is not better than a horse, and the examination of your children of deeper interest than the examination of your cattle? It is one of the sad features of our age that men have no spiritual eye. They value mly what they can buch and handle. Education is supported because every one says it must be supported; while its greater end is defeated by the want of that deep interest which a right conception of its high purpose creates. We heartily concur in the closing sentiment of this clearsighted Superintendent: "It is to be hoped that a new and salutary feeling of concern will be shown by those most deeply interested in this matter; and that the supervision of Common Schools will not be left almost wholly to public officers, whose capacity and faithfulness are not always to be re-

Business Correspondence of The Tribune. MIDDLEBURY, Summit Co., O., Oct. 31, 1813. The unexpected result of the election in Pennsylvania and this State has imparted to the Whigs new energy and life. We feel that the zeal and enthusiasm of 1840 is spreading itself rapidly all over our land, and that under the banner of Henry Clay we can carry the State of Ohio against any Loco-Foco in the field by from 10 to 18,000 majuity. If the Whigs on the Reserve and of Columbus District had known the strength and detennination of the Whigs in other portions of the State, the names of Ridgway and Hamlin and perhaps M. H. Tilden might have been added to our Whig Representation in Congress. The subscribers which I have procured for your invahable paper are so well pleased with The Tribune that I have been enabled to procure some more, and were it not for the pressure of business that confines me at home, I could spread Whigism and Clayism (through the agency of The Tribune) in many, very many Loco families, so that

What Henry Claythinks of Irish Adopted Citizens. To the Editor of The Tribune :

Your own just and enlightened views on the subjects of Foreign Immigration, and of Foreigners in the United States, are too well known to need exposition or illustration; but, at a time when some men, carried away by various influences, National or Religious prejudices, or self-seeking of one kind or other, are agitating for the enactment of oppressive restrictions upon immigrant residents, and for the withdrawal or curtailment of the rights secured to them by the Constitution,-perhaps you can spare a corner in your paper, crowded though it be in these election times, for the purpose of showing how decidedly such movements are at variance with the sentiments held by the highest and best in our land. I do not propose to appeal now to any of the prominent Democrats, lest their testimony might perchance be impeached, as though it were biased, insensibly, by the partiality natural his position as a political leader, (wholly independent of the parties praised,) or his extent of information and the widespread confidence he enjoys as a statesman-I mean HENRY CLAY. I subjoin an extract from his celebrated speech in defence of the American System, delivered February 3d, 1832, in the U. S. Senate. (See Speeches of Henry CLAY, vol. 2, p. 24, Greeley & McElrath's Edition.)

"The honest, patient and industrious German readily unites with our people, establishes himself on some of our fat lands, fills a capacious barn, and enjoys in tranquillity the abundant fruits which his diligence gathers around him, always ready to fly to the standard of his adopted country, or of its laws, when called by the duties of patriotism. The gay, the versatile, the philosophic Frenchman, accommodating himself cheerfully to all the vicissitudes of life, incorporates himself without difficulty in our society. But of all foreigners, none amalgamate themselves so quickly with our people as the NATIVES OF THE have passed through my imagination, I have supplaced in the unfortunate vicinity of Great Britain. The same open-heartedness, the same careless and uncalculating indifference about human life, characterize the inhabitants of both countries. Kentucky has been sometimes called the Ireland of America. And I have no doubt that, if the current of immigration were reversed, and set from America upon the shores of Europe, instead of bearing from Europe to America, every American immigrant to Ireland would there find, as every Irish immigrant here finds, a hearty welcome and a happy home."

I might add a testimony of similar import from the late President Harrison, but this will answer for the present; and I commend it to the attention of all those who, either from their fears or their prejudices, honest though mistaken, have gone into the foolish and irritating crusade against Adopted Citizens. To those engaged in it from purely selfish motives, being mostly office-seekers, or disappointed expectants, I have nothing to say.

VHW-YORK DAIN TRI

speaking of the tyranny of Lord George Paulet, of Admiral Thomas, and says:

"I will bring you on to the 26th of July, when the good ship Dublin, Rear Admiral Thomas, anchored off the port of Honolulu. Before receiving visits from any of the Consuls or any of the residents, he addressed a note to the Governor requesting an audience with the King. This was immediately granted. The Admiral told the King that he was very sorry and much chagrined at the conduct of Lord towards a class where they have always found a general and George Paulet, who had assumed a great responsibility and hearty support. I take instead a man whose evidence in the far exceeded any instructions which had been given him.matter cannot be denied or impugned, whether you regard He teld the King that his tlag should be restored to him, and that he might raise it at any moment. This was no sooner promulgated than the heart of every honest foreign resident was gladdened. As there was not a Hawaiian flag to be found in the place, they having been cut up by order of Lord George, and as the admiral wished to have the res toration made ceremonial and impressive, the 31st of July was appointed as the day on which the old flag should be made to float again over these fairy isles, and on which the King should be made to feel that he was again a King and a ruler over his people. It was a glorious day, and will ever be remembered by these people as the date of their independence. A most drenching rain of about an hour fell, to lay the dust, and after this the sun shone with unusual brightness, as if to add new lustre to the reign of Kamehameha III. The marines and seamen from H. M. ships Dublin, Carysfort and Hazard, were on shore and arranged in military order on the plain, to receive the King and do him honor. When he made his appearance on the plain, the Hawaiian banner was unfurled, and the artillery fired a salute of 21 guns. At exactly 25 minutes part 10 A. M., the English flag, which was flying at the fort, was hauled down, EMERALD ISLE. In some of the visions which and the Hawaiian flag hoisted in its place; at the same time an immense flag, which Mr. Brewer had made, was hoisted posed that Ireland was originally part and parcel on the Punch Bowl; a salute of 21 guns was then fired from of this continent, and that, by some extraordi- each ship, and all the ships dressed with colors; the salute nary convulsion of nature, it was torn from was then answered from the fort. In the afternoon, as the America, and, drifting across the ocean, it was King passed the ships Carysfort and Hazard, on his way to visit the Admiral, outside the harbor, those ships manned yards and fired a royal salute. As he approached the Dublin, that ship manned yards and fired a royal salute .-The next day the King and his Chiefs had a grand festival by themselves. On the 3d inst. the King gave a grand feast, in native style, to all the officers of the ships of war and to the residents, at his house in the valley. It was a grand affair. No Government business for 10 days from 31st July, but all the natives are to enjoy themselves as they best can.

It was accompanied by a very severe pain in my breast and sides, and also a distressing cough. I had in attendance all the best medical aid in our village. But after exhausting their skill to no avail, they pronounced my disease a confirmed constitution, and they one and all gave me up to die. After much persuasion, I got the consent of my Physician to use the Balsam of Wild Cherry, prepared by Dr. Wistar. I purchased of the Agent in our place one bottle, before using half of which I began to gain strength, and it was very evident my cough was much better and my symptoms in every way improving. I have now used three bottles, and am restored to perfect health. This result is alone owing to the use of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry; and I take this method of giving you the information, partly to pay the debt of gratitude I owe you, and partly that others similarly afflicted may know where to apply for relief.

Very truly yours,

the lumps softened and discharged freely, producing great de-bility;—ulcers now broke out on the legs, and to complete my misery, the muscles and sine ws contracted so that I was ren-dered nearly helpless. I remained with little change in this condition until last October, when I was suddenly seized with an indescribable sensation which rendered me nearly uncon-scious, and my friends supposed it was the will of kind Pro-vidence to rid me of my sufferings, but from this I recovered only to suffer on; the ulcers had become one continuous sore

It was in this condition I commenced the use of your invaluable Sarsaparilla, which I was induced to use from the many remarkable cures I saw published. It came to me as some guardian angel; and I can scorcely tell why yet, yet from the moment I heard it mentioned I was impressed furly with the belief that this was to be the good Samaritan for me—and truly it has wrought wonders in my case. After using it a few days my pains grew easier, the swelling of the body and limbs went down, the ulcers commenced healing, and I rested well. After suffering every thing but the pains of death, how happy am I and how grateful do I feel to be able to add another testimonial to the efficacy of your priceless Sarsaparilla! MANSFIELD, Oct. 2d, 1843. To R. W. MATHEWSON, Norwich:

Sin: For the last fifteen years I have been the subject of complicated disease—troubled with the dropsy and my nerves completely unstrung, with more or less of erysipclas, in connection with other bad humors. In May last my difficulties seemed to enrage and be more firmly seated; my head and face was so swollen that it appeared to me that the bones of my head had separated one from the other, and completely distinct the state of the stat D. Fire Engines, of every size, for cities, villages, factories, of my head had separated one from the other, and completely disfigured my face. I could scarcely breathe through my mose; my eyes were so affected that I could see but little, at the same time attended with an acute and indescribable pain constantly darting from the nose to other parts of the head and throat, which was badly swollen and very sore, and a constant burning heat or irritation of the stomach, with my limbs bloated to nearly twice their ordinary size. In this situation, for to nearly twice their ordinary size. In this situation, for weeks I was compelled to lie upon one side, with but little or no sleep. My humors assumed a renewed and stubborn hold upon me, and apparently threatened a speedy dissolution. I tried every expedient possible, with but little or no benefit. My physician at length recommended Sands's Sarsaparilla; I procured a few bottles of it, which I believe to be the means (throthe blessing of God) of my restoration to comparative health again. Be careful to examine the back pad of Hull's Trusses, to see if they are endorsed by Dr. Hull in writing. None are genuine, or to be relied upon as good, within out his signature. Many persons have undertaken to vend imitations of Hull'a celebrated Trusses and thousands are imposed upon in consequence. These imitations cannot be relied upon; they are made by unskilful mechanics, and are no better than the ordinremoved to 13 Beekman street. About 200 of the first physicians and surgeons of New York have given their decided preference to this Truss, as you can graduate the pressure from one to 56 pounds on the rupture without a back pad, which does so much injury to the spine. A fair trial being the best test of its superiority, it is applied and six days trial given, and if it does not retain the rupture, while performing every kind of exercise or coughing, and give perfect ease—in a word, if it is
